² Active Return of the Fund is the difference between the Total Return and the return of the Benchmark. Gross Returns (before fees) are calculated by adding back the fees and expenses deducted. Please refer to the PDS for more information on fees and expenses.

Portfolio and Market Returns

The Bentham Global Income Fund had a total return (after fees) of 0.53% in the month of May, outperforming the benchmark (50% Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill Index, 50% Bloomberg AusBond Composite Index) by 0.14%. On a before fees basis the fund returned 0.60% for the month, outperforming the benchmark by 0.21%.

Investment markets were higher in May, boosted by strong earnings in the US (led by the tech sector) and expectations for global rate cuts in the coming months - albeit with divergence on timing between the US and Europe. Fixed Income and Credit markets were higher, led by Capital Securities and European High Yield.

The top contributors to performance included Capital Securities, Asset Backed Securities (ABS) and Investment Grade Credit; whilst the bottom performing contributors included Residential Mortgage Backed Securities (RMBS) and Global Hybrids. Bond yields fell for the month of May with the economic data getting softer and the market pricing in more rate cuts this year. The long duration position totalling 6 years in a combination of Australia, New Zealand and the UK contributed positively to the performance of the Fund.

Investment markets are pricing in both a rate cutting cycle starting later this year and a continuation of positive earnings growth from companies. While cash rates are now on hold in most G10 countries, monetary policies are currently quite restrictive. We remain cautious on the investment return outlook as we believe the market may be underestimating the economic risk from the lagged impact of recent cash rate hikes.

The current distribution rate setting was based on the running yield of the Fund as at 30 June 2023 and assumes the Fund continues to achieve an equivalent yield for FY2024.

Actual distributions, however, can differ from this setting because of future matters which are not known or able to be presently identified.
