Portfolio and Market Returns

After a volatile start to the month, global investment markets were higher over August as investors priced in rate cuts for the latter part of the year amid continued concerns of a weakening global economy. Both equity and credit markets ended the month higher, as did rates markets, with the US 10-year bond yield falling 19 basis points to 3.91%.

The market volatility earlier in the month was in part sparked by weak US jobs data, with non-farm payrolls well below the consensus expectations and the unemployment rate rising to 4.3%. Both US and European manufacturing data was also weak, prompting concerns Central Banks may have left it too late to cut interest rates, raising the risk of a "hard landing". Volatility was compounded by the unwinding of the JPY carry trade. In his speech at the Jackson Hole Symposium, Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell acknowledged that "the time has come for policy to adjust," with investors at month end pricing in between one and two rate cuts in September.

The top contributors to performance included Investment Grade Credit, Asset Backed Securities (ABS) and Capital Securities; whilst the bottom performing contributors included Global Syndicated Loans, Residential Mortgage Backed Securities (RMBS) and Global Hybrids.
